Newsletter for May 2013

5am in the morning found me sleeping soundly besides my newly-married wife in the front bedroom of my in-laws' house, perched picturesquely on a hill over Port Glasgow station, when the end of the world arrived. The room shook, a noise like thunder echoed in my ears and my eyes sprung open in panic. The rest of the household carried on sleeping peacefully; they had long ago got used to the daily 5am freight train. You don't hear what you're conditioned not to hear. We blank it out. I've even managed to start ignoring most of the horrendous music blasted at me in the gym during my morning exertions. But do we sometimes cease to hear what we are supposed to give attention to?

A recent radio programme * commented that the famous 19th-century Scottish writer Thomas Carlyle had a problem with "listening." He wrote about "The Worship of Silence" as the sacred respect for being quiet until you have a mature opinion on something, but it would seem that he was easily distracted. Living in Chelsea he felt besieged by his noisy neighbours to the point of building himself a very expensive "soundproof" study in the attic. It was a disaster. Too quiet. Once you were sat in that room the slightest noise would be magnified to the point of distraction. A visiting friend commented that "to be obsessed with quiet is never to be possessed of it." His wife Jane called it "the noisiest room in the house". Although I wonder how much he really listened to her. Their relationship was so stormy that Samuel Butler wrote "it was very good of God to let Carlyle and Mrs Carlyle marry one another, and so make only two people miserable and not four."

Carlyle had lost his Calvinist faith at University and with a distrust of democracy developed the idea of the charismatic hero who would save society. Not surprisingly the Nazis were rather attracted to that idea. Maybe if Carlyle had listened more he would have been a happier man and a better philosopher.

Social and spiritual deafness is a problem which Christians have always suffered from. I seem very good at hearing neither the cry of the poor nor the 'still small voice of God.' The Church through the centuries built bigger and more opulent cathedrals and cloisters to commune with God, yet failed to hear the suffering of the world at its gates. In creating ever more lavish worship and richer hierarchies it also failed to listen to God and needed numerous reformers to point it back to the Scriptural truth.

Hearing uncomfortable truths and dealing with them is hard, but we need to do it. The noise of the world is the soundscape God has created for us. Maybe we are too good at shutting it out. We have often locked ourselves in little self-satisfied evangelical ghettos, only to complain about the world outside. "Listen, listen, my people" says God. But we aren't.

God bless,

Peter

Os hoffech gefnogi'r fenter werthfawr hon gallwch roi eich tocynnau ym mlwch Bugeiliaid y Stryd a byddant yn derbyn cyfran o'r arian sydd ar gael gan Waitrose.*

Those who shop at Waitrose might like to know that the Bangor Street Pastors, supported by our Church, has been nominated as one of their three charities of the month during May. If you wish to support this worthwhile venture you can put your tokens in the Street Pastors' box and they will receive a share of the money on offer from Waitrose.

➤ Advance Notice

Saturday 22 June

ANGLESEY PRAYER WALK / TAITH WEDDI MON

The Anglesey Prayer Network is inviting Christians across the island (and beyond) to walk around the coast of Anglesey and complete a 'circle of blessing' over the island. Using the 12 sections of the Anglesey Coastal Path, people are invited to sign up for the section they would like to walk or pray for. Families and the less physically able will be welcome to join part of the walks, or meet in 'prayer houses' on the route, and there will be tea and cakes, and a service of worship and sharing at the end of the day. More details will be given out nearer the time. The emphasis on the day will be to simply enjoy walking together in love around this beautiful island.

For more detailed information and to sign up for the day, see the information leaflet or log on to the website at: <https://sites.google.com/site/prayerwalkmon/>
(The Anglesey Prayer Walk 2013 is organised under the auspices of the Anglesey Prayer Network/Crosslinks and is being organised and supported by representatives from a number of fellowships in North Wales, including Penrallt (Bangor) and Holyhead Baptist Churches, The Church in Wales, Amlwch Assemblies of God and Capel Cildwrn Llangefni. It is also supported by Pray4Wales / Ffald-y-Brenin.)

➤ Penrallt on Facebook

100 people are signed up to Penrallt's Facebook site. Join us.

➤ Homeless in Bangor

Please do not give money directly to the homeless in Upper Bangor. We have found in the past that it has encouraged aggressive begging on the church premises by people who have a history of violence. You will find brown envelopes in the porch to put your gift in. This will buy vouchers which are distributed by the Cathedral to the homeless.

➤ The Prayer Room...

...is open before and after the service for quiet prayer. Penrallt is a place of prayer, so make use of this sacred space.

➤ Pray for Penrallt Every Day

Sign up to receive our prayer diary by e-mail every Monday morning by sending your request to: office@penrallt.org.

If you have some subject for prayer, either send it in by e-mail, or fill in one of the pink cards, which are available in the porch, and place it in the visitors' cards box or give it to Peter or Magnus.

➤ Pastoral Help

If you have pastoral concerns please contact Peter or one of the other members of the Pastoral Care team.

Deadline for next month's newsletter Sunday 19 May

Please send information to Gwyneth (gwyneth@brindley-wales.com or 352682)

The goal of Bangor Street Pastors is to demonstrate God's love to people in practical ways on the streets of Bangor at night time. Much of our time is spent walking around the town with our eyes open for people who might need assistance – perhaps a pair of flip-flops to protect their feet, a bottle of water or a friendly listening ear. We also pick up bottles and glasses that we find lying around on the streets and dispose of them to prevent them being used as weapons in a fight, as well as clearing up broken glass that may injure people (or animals) out walking.

We have now been running for two and a half years (since November 2010) and have successfully managed to send out at least one patrol every week (usually on Fridays, although this summer we are planning to go out on Saturdays when the town is expected to be much busier), in all weathers. We sometimes help at other events too – you can certainly expect to see a few street pastors on the field at this year's Bangor Carnival.

To date, we have picked up over 4500 bottles/glasses, given out 30 space blankets, 650 pairs of flip-flops, 450 lollipops and 100 bottles of water and had 2300 conversations. We have helped several people to get home safely and provided encouragement and comfort to many others. It is not uncommon for people to approach us in the street to thank us for help we have given them on previous occasions (rather than just praising our work in general terms) and we know of at least one person who became a Christian as a direct result of meeting street pastors here in Bangor – on that occasion we offered very simple, practical help and barely, if at all, mentioned that we were Christians (let alone any attempt at deep theological discourse); it was reminiscent of St Francis of Assisi's injunction to "preach the gospel at all times; when necessary, use words".

We would greatly value your prayers. You can subscribe to our fortnightly email prayer diary in order to get information to help you pray for us. We also have a team of Prayer Pastors that support the SP team with prayer, food and friendship on Friday nights, and there is space for more people on that team.

To sign up for one or both of these means of prayer support, for more information about any SP-related things or to arrange to come out as an observer on one of our patrols and see for yourself what we do, please speak to Magnus (tel: 07580 607186, email: bangor@streetpastors.org.uk or drop into the Penrallt office one morning).
